More Café

Happy staff make happy dining, especially when the waiters go out of their way to make you feel welcome, no matter how many squawking kids you have in tow. Big tables and an ample supply of crayons make this place a magnet for families at weekends and while the service and funky decor stand out, it's the food that has made More a local favourite. The adult menu is hugely diverse, incorporating everything from Thai curry, Dutch pancakes, South African boerwars and – one of our favourites – the signature More burger with its fabbie four-tiered cake stand of condiments. Older kids will love this while younger diners are well catered for with the kids' menu featuring various pasta combos, a smiley-face burger and veal schnitzel to name but a few. The grub is top quality and, on our last visit at least, was lapped up by all members of the family. With two new venues – one overlooking the Dubai Fountain at Dubai Mall and another in Festival City – the guys at More must be doing something right.
